Thunderbird History

Thunderbird Vision Statement

Thunderbird School of Global Management advances inclusive and sustainable prosperity worldwide.

Thunderbird Mission Statement

Thunderbird empowers and influences global leaders and managers who maximize the benefits of the Fourth Industrial Revolution for business, government, society, and the environment.

Thunderbird History

Thunderbird has been a top-ranked international management school for more than 70 years, and today Thunderbird continues producing leaders capable of tackling the world’s greatest challenges. As the technological innovations of the Fourth Industrial Revolution alter how we live and work, Thunderbird is developing nimble, ethical, global leaders across sectors and disciplines who are equipped to shape sustainable businesses, economies, cultures and environments around the world for this new era.

Originally known as the American Institute for Foreign Trade [AIFT], Thunderbird was chartered in Glendale, Arizona on the site of a World War II airbase, Thunderbird Field, where pilots from around the world trained during wartime. General Barton Kyle Yountobtained the airfield with the express purpose of developing a school focused exclusively on international trade and global relations. He was named Thunderbird’s first president and established a vision for the school that remains today — built on the phrase coined by original faculty member, Dr. William Lytle Schurz: “Borders frequented by trade seldom need soldiers.” With that, Thunderbird’s mission of educating global leaders who create inclusive and sustainable prosperity worldwide was born.

As AIFT, Thunderbird became the world’s first higher education institution to specialize in international management by concentrating curriculum on cross-cultural communication, regional business studies and hands-on, real-world training in global business nuances. By 1955, two degrees were offered: a Bachelor of Foreign Trade and a Master of Foreign Trade. The Bachelor’s program was eventually discontinued and the Master’s program evolved into a Master of International Management (MIM) and later into an MBA in Global Management.

In 2014, Thunderbird became an independent unit of the Arizona State University Knowledge Enterprise, combining Thunderbird’s elite heritage of developing global business leaders with ASU’s expansive resources. In 2018, Thunderbird relocated to ASU’s vibrant Downtown Phoenix campus and constructed a new global headquarters facility that opened in Fall 2021 as Thunderbird celebrated its 75th anniversary.

As part of the merger with ASU, Thunderbird transformed its MBA program into an innovative Master of Global Management (MGM). Thunderbird now offers this unique degree as a full-time campus program, and an Executive MGM. The degree portfolio also includes the Executive MGM in Space Leadership, the Executive Master of Arts in Global Affairs and Management, the Master of Arts in Global Affairs and Management in the Creative Industries, and the Online Master of Applied Leadership and Management (MALM) as well as two unique bachelor’s degrees: the Bachelor of Global Management and the Bachelor of Science in International Trade, both of which are delivered on ASU’s West campus.

Often called a “mini-United Nations” because of its diverse and inclusive global student body, Thunderbird is also known worldwide for its elite and highly engaged alumni network of more than 45,000 global leaders in nearly 150 nations. Thunderbird’s global presence has expanded over the years as well, with satellite operations now in Geneva, Moscow, Dubai, Seoul, Jakarta, Tokyo, Los Angeles and Washington, DC.

Degree Transformations

As part of the merger with ASU, Thunderbird transformed its MBA program into an innovative Master of Global Management (MGM), which was ranked #1 by the Wall Street Journal/Times Higher Education for 2019. Students now choose from 15 concentration opportunities and benefit from the combination of Thunderbird’s rich history of training global leaders in skills like cross-cultural management, cross-language communication, and cross-border negotiation and ASU’s rich history of innovation in disciplines from bio design to journalism, space science to humanities.

Important Buildings

ASU Downtown Phoenix Campus

A. E. England Building

- The historic A. E. England Building adjoins the downtown Civic Space and provides space for meetings, classes, offices, art events and banquets. The Fair Trade Café and Gallery, located in the A.E. England Building, offers organic, fair trade coffee and hosts musical and cultural events.
- The Artlink A. E. England Gallery is also located here, and features work by established and emerging artists in all art disciplines. Constructed in 1926 for a local automobile dealership and later occupied by an electrical equipment company, the building is listed on the Phoenix Historic Property Register and was renovated in 2008.

BeusCenter for Law and Society

- The BeusCenter for Law and Society building brings the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law from Tempe, where it was located for nearly 50 years, to the Downtown Phoenix campus, and closer to the legal, political and economic heart of Arizona.
- Opened for the fall 2016 semester, the $130 million BeusCenter for Law and Society aims to connect the community, as much as students, to the law and justice. Named for attorney Leo Beus and his wife, Annette, the six-story, 280,000-square-foot center features a courtyard, an expansive atrium and public spaces that are meant to encourage that openness. In addition to the law college, the BCLS building houses the Ross-Blakley Law Library, a bookstore and a cafe, and includes space for two think tanks, several cross-disciplinary centers and the ASU Alumni Law Group, the nation's first non-profit, privately financed teaching law firm.

Civic Space

- The civic space park is a “bridge” between the ASU and surrounding community, and accommodates a variety of uses, events and daily functions of the university. The post office building, the A. E. England Building, a stage, and the green space comprises a student commons area.
- The splash pad water feature is a fun place to cool off, and there are abundant shady areas for picnics and outdoor relaxation. A signature shade structure is the centerpiece of the park's sustainable design. Solar panels on the shade structure provide energy for lighting and electrical needs. The Fair Trade Café and Gallery, located in the A.E. England Building, offers organic, fair trade coffee and hosts musical and cultural events.

Fusion on First

- Opened in 2021, the Downtown Phoenix campus' newest residence hall, Fusion on First, provides housing for approximately 530 students across all majors at the downtown campus, including Thunderbird School of Global Management graduate students.
- Located on First Avenue and Fillmore Street, the residence hall houses juniors, seniors and graduate students with majors at the Downtown Phoenix campus. Standing 16 floors high and overlooking Civic Space Park, the building includes 13 floors of student housing, above a three-story high-tech innovation hub for the arts geared towards academic programs such as design, popular music, and fashion.
- Rooms are apartment-style with two and four-bedroom units available, along with smaller studio options, and are fully furnished with full-size beds, a kitchen, and scenic views of downtown Phoenix.

Sun Devil Fitness & Wellness Complex Downtown

- Funded by student activity fees, the Sun Devil Fitness Complex, constructed in 2013, in direct response to student demand and input, includes state-of-the-art weight and fitness areas, including cardiovascular and strength equipment, and free weights.
- In addition, the Sun Devil Fitness Complex features two multi-purpose studios for group fitness and mind/body classes, a two-court gymnasium, a rooftop outdoor leisure pool and a multi-purpose area for student clubs to utilize. In addition, there is classroom space located on the second floor for Exercise and Wellness Academic classes.

Thunderbird School of Global Management

- Thunderbird School of Global Management's state-of-the-art global headquarters opened on ASU's Downtown Phoenix campus in 2021, in celebration of the 75th anniversary of the school's founding.
- Equipped with the latest learning and telepresence technology, the cutting-edge facility will empower Thunderbird to deliver exceptional leadership and management education for generations to come while honoring the institution's rich legacy of academic excellence. Thunderbird is home to a renowned faculty of instructors who carry on the traditions that have placed Thunderbird among the top-ranked global business education institutions and earned the school the perennial support of loyal alumni.

U.S Post Office

- Another one of Phoenix's historic buildings, the U.S. Post Office serves as a gathering place for students and provides offices for additional student service support programs, such as ASU Counseling Services, ASU Police, Career Services, Dean of Students, Student Advocacy, Student Rights and Responsibilities, Student Engagement and TRiO.
- The Student Center @ the Post Office opened in January 2013 and serves the students of the Downtown Phoenix campus by providing a space for interaction, engagement and connection. The center features meeting spaces for student organizations and affiliated departments including Student Organization Support. The facility includes a gaming room, recreation lounge, a multipurpose room and wired lounge spaces as well as ping-pong, foosball and air-hockey tables, a grand piano and five high-definition televisions. It is also the home to Changemaker Central and Counseling Services.
- A U.S. Postal Service retail mail services location is located on the first floor

University Center (UCENT)

- The University Center boasts modern classrooms, offices, labs, seminar rooms and study areas.
- It houses student services, the ASU Bookstore and a café. The Information Commons is a central site for Student Computing and the ASU Libraries, and provides a single location for access to library materials, research resources and the information technology help desk.
- The Watts College of Public Service and Community Solutions, College of Integrative Sciences and Arts, Lodestar Center for Philanthropy & Nonprofit Innovation, University College administration offices and student services also operate within this building.

Parking Information

Parking Permits

- ASU offers a variety of parking and permitoptions to support the different types of commuters coming onto ASU campuses. Sustainable commuter groups may purchase a High Occupancy Vehicle / HOV permit with special benefits and rewards.
- Permits do not reserve a parking spot but allow for parking in a specific location. Parking permit prices are based on the facility’s proximity to campus destinations. Each campus offers tiered permit rates that range in price.
- Students, faculty and staff may purchase annual permits. Sun Devils who choose not to purchase a permit, as well as campus visitors, may use various daily and hourly parking options.
- ASU encourages the use of sustainable transportation through discounts and services, such as Bike, Campus Shuttles and Public Transit on light rail and Valley Metro Busses. For more information on the ASU Trip Reduction Plan, call Parking and Transit Services at 480-965-6124. Visit Maricopa County’s Travel Reduction Program webpage for additional information.

Additional Information

- Only students living in an on-campus residence hall can purchase a residence hall parking permit. Some residence hall permits have restrictions. These restrictions are explained to customers upon permit purchase. Residence hall students cannot purchase commuter permits.
- Sun Devils, who choose not to purchase a permit, as well as campus visitors, may use daily and hourly parking options. Permit rates are prorated beginning Sept.5, and then on the first day of each month after that through July. Prorated rates are displayed online in the Transportation Account website.
- View the news section and follow Parking and Transit on Twitter for updates about parking availability and events that may affect your route to campus.

Phoenix Arts and Culture

Phoenix is a center of arts and culture. Phoenix offers museums, the performing arts, and much more. Some of Phoenix’s more notable museums include:

- The Arizona Science Center
- The Desert Botanical Garden in nearby Papago Salado
- The Heard Museum
- The Phoenix Art Museum
- The Phoenix Museum of History
- The Phoenix Zoo in nearby Papago Salado
- The Pueblo Grande Museum and Cultural Park in nearby Papago Salado

For the performing arts, Phoenix has a lot to offer. Some of the more notable attractions include:

- The Actor’s Theatre of Phoenix
- The Arizona Opera
- Ballet Arizona
- The Herberger Theater Center
- The Orpheum Theatre
- The Phoenix Symphony Orchestra
- The Phoenix Theatre
- Phoenix Sports and Leisure

Phoenix has plenty to offer to keep sports fans happy. Phoenix is home to the following major sports teams:

- Baseball - The Major League Baseball (MLB), Arizona Diamondbacks. In addition, in the spring of every year, nine major league baseball teams come to the Phoenix area for spring training.
- Basketball - The National Basketball Association (NBA) Phoenix Suns, and the WNBA Phoenix Mercury.
- Football - The National Football League (NFL) Arizona Cardinals.
- Hockey - The National Hockey League (NHL) Phoenix Coyotes.
- Lacrosse - The National Lacrosse League (NLL) Arizona Sting play in nearby Glendale.

Phoenix’s dry and sunny climate make it an ideal location for a wide variety of outdoor activities. In addition to “normal” outdoor activities such as blading, biking, horseback riding, hiking, boating and more, Phoenix is an ideal location for more exotic outdoor activities such as hot-air ballooning, or soaring in a glider.
